ABSTRACT

The Student Transfer Matrix provides data on the numbers of students transferring from Oklahoma public and private institutions of higher education to other Oklahoma institutions, using data from receiving institutions. Among the highlights are: the number of students who transferred to four-year and two-year institutions remained steady at 57.8 and 42.3 percent, respectively; three of the regional four-year institutions and 12 of the two-year institutions reported a net loss of transfers; the highest percentage of "reverse flow" transfer (from four- to two-year) was reported for Asian and white students (27 percent for both) and the lowest "reverse flow" was reported for native American students (18 percent); the highest percentage of transfer from two- to four-year institutions was for Native Americans (48 percent), followed by Asian and Hispanics (both 40 percent), whites (37 percent), and Blacks (33 percent). Data in Section 1 covers the aggregate flow of all students; Sections 2 and 3 cover transfer by gender; and Sections 4 through 9 list transfers by race. Within each section, the matrix is divided into three parts the first reports data on students who have transferred regardless of their degree status; the second, reports data only on transfer students who have earned a degree within the previous year; and the third part presents data on students who are transferring without a degree or with a degree received prior to the previous year. APPENDIX 93

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

- This fall 1996 edition of the Student Transfer Matrix is the twentieth year in a series that began in fall 1977. The transfer trends of the 1995-96 academic year students who transferred in fall 1996 have changed since last year.

- In fall 1996, the number of students who transferred to four-year and two-year institutions remained steady at 57.8 and 42.3 percent, respectively.

- The statewide flow of student transfers from public and private institutions to public institutions is also provided by type of public institution.

  From two-year to four-year institutions - 38.0%

  From four-year to four-year institutions - 19.8%

  From four-year to two-year institutions - 26.0%

  From two-year to two-year institutions - 16.3%

- Three of the regional four-year institutions and twelve of the two-year institutions reported a net loss of transfers; more students transferred out of the institution than transferred to the institution.

- The University of Oklahoma, Oklahoma State University, and the University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center with seven of the regional four-year institutions, and four of the two-year institutions reported a net gain in transfers, receiving more students in the transfer process than they lost. The four-year and two-year institutions were: University of Central Oklahoma, East Central University, Northeastern State University, Northwestern Oklahoma State University, Southeastern Oklahoma State University, Langston University, Oklahoma Panhandle State University, Eastern Oklahoma State College, Tulsa Community College, Oklahoma State University Technical Branch at Oklahoma City, and Southwestern Oklahoma State University at Sayre.

- With the College of Osteopathic Medicine of Oklahoma State University being a graduate college, there are no undergraduate transfers reported by this institution.

- The highest percent "reverse flow" transfer was reported for both Asian and White students, 27 percent, from four-year institutions to two-year institutions. The lowest percent "reverse flow" transfer was reported for Native American students, 18 percent.

- The percent transfer from two-year to four-year institutions was highest for Native American, 48 percent followed by Asian and Hispanic, both with 40 percent. The White race category transferred from two-year to four-year institutions at 37 percent, while Black student transfers followed at 33 percent.

STUDENT TRANSFER MATRIX
FALL 1996

The Student Transfer Matrix provides the numbers of students transferring from Oklahoma public and private institutions of higher education to Oklahoma public and private institutions. Please use the private institution data carefully. These institutions, as receiving institutions, are not obligated to provide transfer information. Hence, very little information has been provided. The matrix is composed of nine sections with three parts to each section. Within each part, receiving institutions are arranged across the top of the matrix by column, and transferring institutions are arranged down the left-hand column of the matrix by row.

Section I is the aggregate flow of all students and is referred to as the statewide flow. Sections II and III give the transfer by gender for males and females, respectively. Sections IV through IX list transfers by race using the six Office for Civil Rights classifications: Nonresident Alien, Black Non-Hispanic, Native American, Asian or Pacific Islander, Hispanic and White Non-Hispanic.

Within each section, the matrix is divided into three parts. The first part of the report looks at all students who have transferred regardless of their degree status (with and without degrees). The second part reports students who are transferring and have earned a degree within the previous year only. The third part reports students who were transferring without a degree or with a degree received prior to fall of the previous year. Parts two and three within a section will sum to equal part one.

All transferring students at all levels are reported in the matrix, even those reported as unclassified. It is important to remember that the student is reported as a transfer by the receiving institution, and it is the receiving institution that identifies the transmitting institution.

The matrix represents the number of students of the previous year (1995-96) who transferred in fall 1996 semester only. The enrollment of the student is counted in the fall 1996 semester regardless whether they are a continuing enrollment, immediate transfer, or delay transfer. A continuing enrollment would mean they were enrolled at that institution the previous academic year. An immediate transfer would mean one who was enrolled the previous academic year at another Oklahoma institution of higher education and transferred without a break in enrollment to the current institution. A delay transfer would be a student who was not enrolled the previous academic, but was transferring hours from another institution. Also, note that although transfers into Oklahoma are known, transfers out of Oklahoma are not. Therefore, a total transfer configuration cannot be constructed from this matrix although useful institutional and intrastate data may be generated. This is the twenty-second such matrix to be constructed and the twentieth matrix constructed from the Unitized Data System.

If any user of the matrix has any questions or suggestions concerning the matrix, please contact this office.

The General Intrastate Transfer Pattern of Students From Public and Private Institutions to Public Institutions During Fall 1996

This diagram depicts the data in the statewide flow of student transfer activity from public and private institutions to public two-year and four-year institutions. The percentage reflects those students reported by receiving institutions as transferring into the schools during fall 1996 with and without degrees. In fall 1996, 57.8 percent of the transfer students went to four-year institutions and 42.3 percent went to two-year institutions. In fall 1995 the distribution was 58.0 percent and 42.0 percent, respectively. The percentage of students who transferred from two-year to four-year institutions increased from 37.8 percent in fall 1995 to 38.0 percent in fall 1996. The "reverse flow" from four-year to two-year institutions is 26.0 percent for fall 1996, a decrease of 0.3 percentage points from fall 1995. Exactly 16.3 percent of the fall student enrollments transferred from two-year institutions to two-year institutions, an increase of 0.6 percentage points from the previous year. The percent of students transferring from four-year to four-year institutions decreased in fall 1996 to 19.8 percent, down 0.5 percentage points since fall 1995.

Transfer Pattern of Students within Public Institutions for Fall 1996

This graph displays the number of students transferring from other public institutions to each public institution specified as well as the number of students transferring from each public institution to other public institutions. For example, 1,258 students transferred from other public institutions to Oklahoma State University; 1,089 students transferred from Oklahoma State University to other public institutions during fall 1996.

Analysis. For fifteen of the thirty public institutions listed, more students transferred from a institution to other public institutions. However, both of the comprehensive universities plus the University of Oklahoma Health Science Center, seven of the ten regional four-year public institutions, and four of the sixteen two-year public institutions had more students transfer from other public institutions to their institution. With the College of Osteopathic Medicine of Oklahoma State University being a graduate college, there are no undergraduate transfers reported by this institution. Closer scrutiny of the statewide student transfer matrix will indicate the source of the transfers.

Intrastate Transfer Pattern by Race and Gender for Fall 1996

This table presents the percent intrastate transfer of students from public and private institutions to public institutions by race and gender during fall 1996 for two-year to two-year, two-year to four-year, four-year to two-year, and four-year to four-year institutions. The percent transfer was highest for total students from two-year to four-year institutions, 38 percent. It was lowest from two-year to two-year institutions, 16 percent.

Both males and females transferred from two-year to four-year institutions at a rate of 38 percent. Both males and females had the same transfer pattern from four-year to two-year at 26 percent. A slightly higher percentage of males than females transferred from four-year to four-year institutions while the opposite is true for the two-year to two-year transfer.

Every race and ethnic category reported the highest percentage of student transfers from two-year to four-year institutions: Black, 33 percent; Native American, 48 percent; Hispanic, 40 percent; Asian, 40 percent; and White 37 percent. Transfer from two-year to two-year institutions, was reported to be the lowest percentage of student transfer for Native American students, 17 percent; Asian students, 15 percent; Hispanic students, 15 percent; and White students, 16 percent. The Black race category reported their lowest number of transfers from four-year to four-year institutions, 19 percent.
